

Melissa DiVietri

Short Biography: Melissa DiVietri — widely known as Blue Eye Queen — is originally from Michigan, shaped by the grit of Detroit and the quiet strength of the Midwest, where her story first took root. She is an internationally exhibiting abstract artist, advocate, and builder whose work rises from a life shaped by resilience. Born with sacral agenesis, she learned early how to turn pain into movement and movement into color, creating a language of abstraction that speaks where words cannot. Her paintings pulse with survival, faith, and the steady discipline of rebuilding — inviting viewers to feel, not merely observe.

With 36 active showcases worldwide, her work has appeared through ArtPoint in France, Einsight in China, ArtPrize in Michigan, and programs connected to the Detroit Institute of Arts. She has painted across 38 countries — from Detroit street galleries to Miami warehouses, Colombian artist collectives, and Bali rooftops — carrying her story through color, fracture, and motion as a global artist rooted in truth.

In the digital frontier, she is the creator of multiple sold-out NFT collections, transforming her handmade non-toxic acrylic paintings into digital abstractions through generative methods and coding. Her work lives across Magic Eden, Abstract Chain, ApeChain, JRNY Gallery, Highlight.xyz, and her own platform, bridging physical canvases with on-chain culture and accessible ownership as well as generative AI development.

Beyond the gallery and blockchain, Blue is a top streamer on TikTok and YouTube, sharing uniquely abled content that reaches audiences across the world. Millions of views on her art, her resilience, her unfiltered storytelling, and the way she turns everyday challenges into connection.

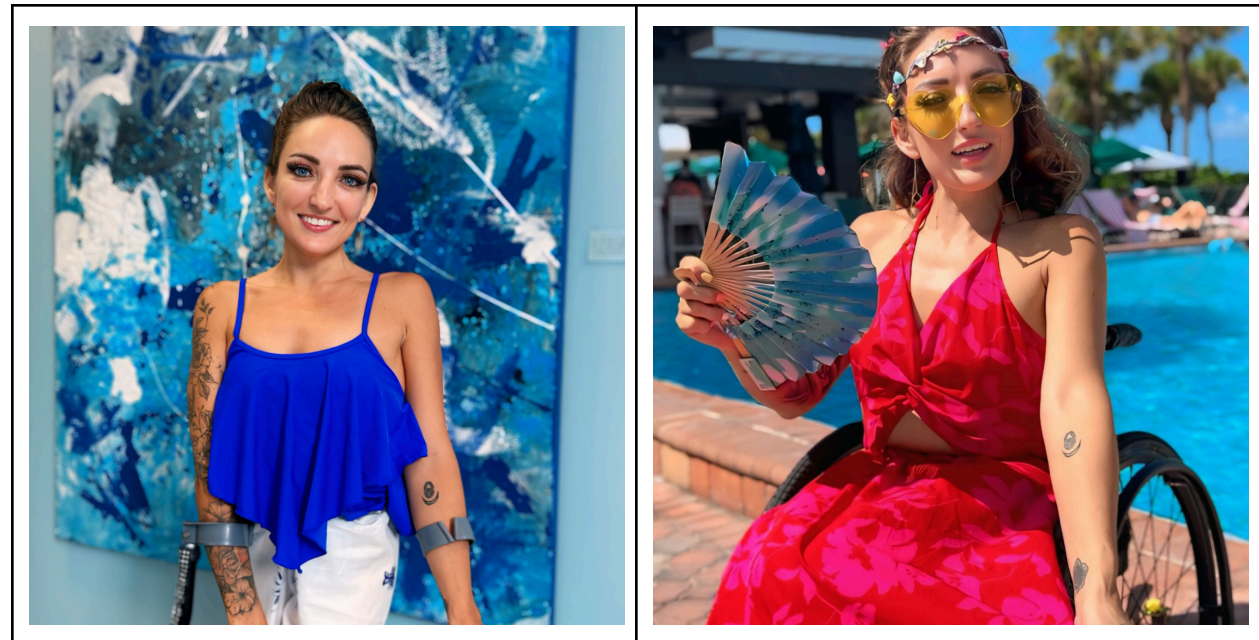

BLUE EYE QUEEN

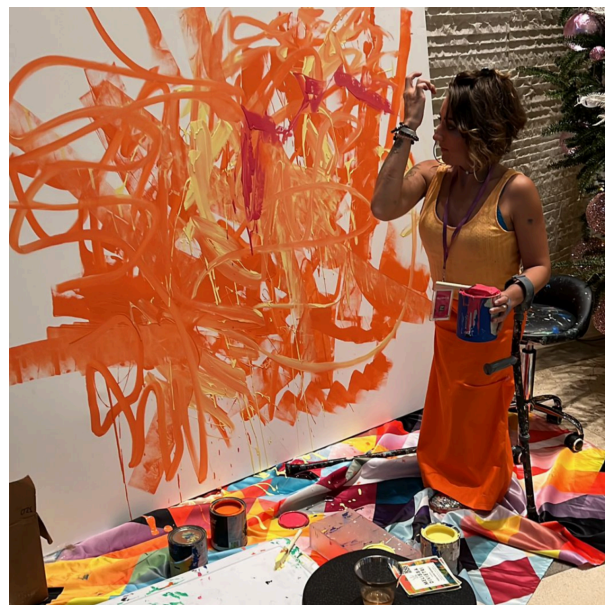

Her educational background includes a Bachelor of Science in Engineering from Ferris State University, grounding her practice in structure, precision, and innovation. She also holds a Business degree in International Marketing with an emphasis in Public Relations, as well as training in Graphic Communications through Career Tech School. Her studies continued at Oakland University, where she completed coursework in Business Statistics — building the analytical and operational foundation that shapes her creative systems and entrepreneurial ecosystem.

Off the canvas, she develops automated bot systems and AI-driven language tools that expand accessibility, education, and community impact. Her professional collaborations include Yuga Labs, TedX, Google, Mazda, Ford, Mercedes-Benz, and Audi — reflecting her ability to move fluidly between creativity, advocacy, technology, and digital innovation.

At the core of her work is a commitment to access, visibility, and belonging — especially for those told they are “too much,” “too complicated,” or “too different.” She creates because she must. She shares because the world needs permission to feel. And she continues because resilience isn’t a theme — it’s the life she lives.
